

Giles Lemmens is an experienced nonprofit finance and operations professional, helping nonprofit organizations increase their efficiency and efficacy. Originally from Atlanta, GA, Giles graduated from the University of Georgia with his B.A. in Music Education and the University of Connecticut with a graduate certificate in Arts Administration before relocating to Chicago in 2016 to pursue a career in nonprofit management. Since then, he has worked for nonprofits in the theatre, music, education, and social services industries, working with organizations to implement automations and new processes to increase their administrative capacity.

Outside of work, Giles can be found in the kitchen trying out a new recipe, running his dogs Jack (a one-eyed Shih Tzu mix) and Cash (a border collie) in agility, or spending time exploring restaurants in the city with his wife and friends.
